About Getting Along With Others

Know who your friends are.

Make new friends along the way.

Keeep your nose out of someone else's business.

Listen to what others have to say...

Even when they can be a little annoying.

It always helps to say please.

A sequel to the New York Times® Best-Seller
What Dogs Teach Us

If you're a dog owner or a dog lover, you know they have lessons to teach. All dogs have an admirable, innate understanding of the joys and simplicities of life that makes everyone around them happier. By emulating the lessons served up every day by these generous animals, we can all learn to smile more, relax better, love with less inhibition, and appreciate with more conviction and understanding the gift of being alive.
